Workshop for parents

uncomfortable conversations

Supporting Muslim families to help keep children safe by making uncomfortable conversations feel comfortable.

For children, it's their parents and carers who are there to nurture and guide them. They look to you to have the answers and to give them advice when they need it. Whether it's talking about puberty, relationships, boundaries or something else, there can be some topics that might feel hard to talk about with children.

Free workshop for parents at Heath Mount School:
Date: Friday 6 December 2024
Time: 9-10am
Venue: Heath Mount School

Our workshop will:

- explore Islamic references to safeguarding
- explore how regular conversations can help to keep children safe
- help you feel more prepared, confident and comfortable talking about a range of topics.
